

Replicon Mobile: Making Time Collection Easier and More Accurate

Replicon Mobile gives users the power to manage timesheets, even on-the-go. Android and iPhone users can capture time and expense-related information in just seconds, and have that data automatically sync up with Replicon's other cloud-based products.

Track Employee Time and Expenses from Anywhere, Anytime

Modern companies are increasingly embracing technologies like the cloud and mobility to help employees work where and when they want with fewer restrictions. Because many companies find it difficult to track their mobile workforce, the Replicon Mobile app was specifically designed to take the headache out of tracking employee time.

Enter time and expenses on-the-go

Replicon Mobile enables anytime, anywhere access to Replicon's cloud-based time tracking software using your mobile phones or tablets. By entering data when it is fresh in employees' minds, time and expense entries are more accurate and more detailed.

Upload digital receipts

Users need not wait to get back to the office to enter receipts on expense sheets. The app allows them to take a picture of the receipt immediately, upload it, and submit for approval. This makes lost receipts a thing of the past.

Eliminate submission and approval delays

Employees can enter time and expense data even when they are not in the physical office. Managers can easily approve or reject these entries using the same mobile app.

Capture and sync data in seconds

The best part is that the mobile app automatically syncs directly with any cloud-based product from Replicon that the organization already uses. Therefore, users need not worry about re-entering or losing data.
